

The Cyprus Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Higher Education (CYQAA) launches a call for international experts

7 August 2019

The Cyprus Agency of Quality Assurance and Accreditation in Higher Education (CYQAA) is issuing an open call for international experts who would be interested to participate in the upcoming external evaluations in Cyprus, starting in autumn 2019.

Selected experts will be included in the Agency's database and notified. Experts included in the database should be ready to participate in short-term assignments for:

- Programmatic evaluation
- Departmental evaluation
- Institutional evaluation

The assignment will consist of a preparatory stage, on-site visit, the writing of the external evaluation report, and be ready to provide their feedback on the institution's response if requested by the CYQQA Council. The visit to Cyprus, which includes the on-site visit to the institutions under evaluation and the writing of the external evaluation report takes from 2 working days up to 4 working days according to the size of the institution/department/number of programmes of study.

Application is open for candidates who fulfil the following criteria:

- recognised qualifications at PhD level
- status/rank of Associate Professor or Professor

- experience in programme evaluation and/or department evaluation and/or institutional evaluation (i.e. participation in an external evaluation panel, implementation of quality management procedures in an institution of higher education or research center)
- experience in research and teaching in the field of the programme under evaluation
- international experience in teaching, research or evaluation
- experience in academic programme development, monitoring, methodology and review
- participation in trainings on evaluation/accreditation or audit procedures
- fluency in English
