Breakout sessions I

Participants are invited to choose one of the sessions

QA of e-learning

Quality assurance of e-learning gained extra attention in the past years, due to the shift to online learning and teaching during the Covid-19 pandemic, but also due to more general developments in digital education. This session will build on previous work done by ENQA on this topic (the working group report published in 2018) and discuss new considerations based on the changed context, use and visibility of e-learning. The session outcomes will feed into an ENQA briefing document to position the original working group report in the new context.

Esther Huertas, AQU Catalunya, Spain
Karena Maguire, QQI (Ireland) and ENQA Board member

Building: Widerströmska, Lecture Hall: Inghesalen, 1st floor

QA and recognition

Recognition and quality assurance are two key commitments that underpin the EHEA. They foster mobility, exchange of knowledge, experiences and intellectual capital. Quality assurance is a precondition for recognition. This session will reflect on the linkages between them, the related European policy developments and the initiatives of some European regions to sign treaties allowing for automatic mutual recognition of higher education degree. It will also explore what we can learn from the quality assurance agencies acting also as ENIC/NARIC centres.

Aurelija Valeikiene, Deputy Director of SKVC, Lithuania
Chair: Jolanta Silka, AIC (Latvia) and ENQA Board Member

Building: Biomedicum: Room: Ragnar Granit

Future perspectives on the ESG

The ESG 2015 provide a common basis for internal and external quality assurance of learning and teaching. In recent years, there have been calls from various stakeholders to make further revisions to the ESG to reflect recent developments in higher education, allow more room for innovation in quality assurance in the future and facilitate a more flexible application of common standards. In this session participants will discuss whether the ESG need to be revised and what form that revision could take. The issues raised will feed into the QA-FIT project, which is consulting stakeholders on the future of the European quality assurance framework.

Doris Herrmann, AQAS (Germany) and ENQA Board Member
Patrick Van den Bosch, VLUHR-QA (Belgium) and ENQA Board Member

Building: Biomedicum, Lecture Hall: Eva & Georg Klein

10.00 – 10.30 Coffee break

Plenary 1 - Quality assurance of transnational higher education

Achim Hopbach

Achim Hopbach is an international higher education consultant with 25 years of experience in higher education reform and quality assurance. He specialises in cross-border higher education, joint programmes, quality assurance policies and legislation, and higher education reform; he is also involved in international reviews of higher education institutions and quality assurance agencies. Before setting up his own business he served as the director of national quality assurance agencies in Austria and Germany. Achim Hopbach held and holds various positions in boards and advisory bodies of quality assurance agencies in Europe, Hong Kong, and Dubai; and as President of ENQA.

Simon Roy

Simon Roy is a lead analyst in the Higher Education Policy Team in the OECD's Directorate of Education and Skills. Since joining the OECD in 2017, he has worked on a wide range of higher education policy issues, including quality assurance, workforce alignment and doctoral education. He is currently coordinator of the Resourcing Higher Education Project, which explores how OECD jurisdictions structure and fund institutional networks, support students financially and regulate employment of academic staff. In this project, he has led system-specific work with Denmark, Finland, the Flemish Community of Belgium, Ireland, Israel, Lithuania, and Portugal. Before joining the OECD, Simon was a policy officer in the unit responsible for higher education at the European Commission.

Plenary 2 - Global perspectives on quality assurance

Mohammad Shatar bin Sabran

Professor Dato' Dr. Mohammad Shatar Sabran was appointed as the Chief Executive Officer of the Malaysian Qualifications Agency (MQA) in February 2021. As an Agency under the Ministry of Higher Education, MQA is the sole body that oversees and coordinates the quality assurance and accreditation of national higher education. Under this appointment, he is also the President of ASEAN Quality Assurance Network (AQAN) with a total of 21 members across the ASEAN region.

In 1999, he completed his doctorate in Leadership and Community Development from University of Missouri, Colombia USA. His early career in education management started in Universiti Putra Malaysia when he was appointed as the Deputy Vice Chancellor (Student Affairs and Alumni) in 2013. He was later appointed as Vice Chancellor of Universiti Pendidikan Sultan Idris in 2017.

Lamine Gueye

Lamine Gueye is full professor of physiology. He held various university positions: Dean of the faculty of medicine of Gaston Berger University (UGB) Vice chancellor of UGB, and Vice chancellor of Alioune Diop University of Bambey.
